Chemsultants International grows its Alliance with PSTC - the Pressure Sensitive Tape Council

In 2005, the Pressure Sensitive Tape Council and Chemsultants International formed an Alliance for Excellence in Tape Testing. PSTC and Chemsultants formed the Alliance to provide educational opportunities and resources on proven tape testing methods and state-of-the-art tape testing equipment.

During the past 5 years, the relationship has continued to grow and has now taken a new turn. With its state-of-the-art technical facility in Mentor, Ohio, Chemsultants International has been selected as the preferred hands-on training facility for the Council membership and other Industry members.

This year a new PSTC Education Program focused on "Manufacturing and Testing" will be held at the Mentor facility in September, 2010. This program is one part of the PSTC Education series offering training from the fundamentals to advanced concepts. This new module will provide true hands-on experience in the testing laboratory as well as on actual 24" wide pilot coating, laminating and converting equipment. Another program is still being developed for the summer of 2011 which will focus on applications for PSA Tape developed for technical and sales specialists in the business.

For more information on the Alliance for Excellence in Tape Testing or to register for this program please visit the PSTC website at www.pstc.org.
